

Things to Do

Thursday 5

★ Better Call Saul: Bob Odenkirk, Michael McKean and Jonathan Banks in Conversation 92nd Street Y, 1395 Lexington Ave between 91st and 92nd Sts (212-415-5500, 92y.org). Subway: 6 to 96th St. 8pm; $41. Breaking Bad fans, get excited for this conversation about Better Call Saul, the spin-off starring everyone's favorite shady lawyer Saul Goodman (Odenkirk). Host Cynthia Littleton also chats with costars McKean and Banks, who played the oddly likable hit man Mike Ehrmantraut.

Dinners in the Dark Camaje, 85 MacDougal St between Bleecker and W Houston Sts (212-673-8184, camaje.com/dinnersinthedark). Subway: A, C, E, B, D, F, M to W 4th St. 7pm; $85. Guests don blindfolds as they eat a four-course meal at chef Abigail Hitchcock's Camaje. This unusual, orchestrated experience is punctuated by a performance, presented as an experiment to test and awake the senses.

★ Fifth Annual Athena Film Festival The Diana Center (at Barnard College), 3009 Broadway at 117th St (212-854-5262, athenafilmfestival.com). Subway: 1 to 116th St-Columbia Univ. Noon-11pm; Individual films $12, students $5; all-access pass $80, students $25. See story, page 27.

TimeOut New York Kids ABOUT TOWN

This week's best events for you and your small person

SUN 8 CIRKIZ

Who says EDM isn't for kids? This family-friendly dance party, outfitted with a 100-foot LED video wall, gives future spinners lessons from DJ Natalie, the founder of Baby DJ School, and dance lessons with the CirKiz Dancers. Little ones can also decorate friendship bracelets at the Glow Station and, of course, show off their moves on the dance floor. An interactive performance by the Dream Lab's LED Robot (a person decked out in a colorful, high-tech light suit) will really get them moving. Cielo, 18 Little W 12th St between Ninth Ave and Washington St (212-645-5700, cirkiz.com). 1-5pm; $20, group rate (four or more) $15. Ages 6-12.

SUN 8 SPECIAL DAY FOR SPECIAL KIDS

The New York Transit Museum welcomes special-needs families for a day of fun, starting with exclusive museum access until 11am. They'll walk through historic tunnels, sit in the driver's seat of a city bus, dance to live music, and craft transit-themed snow globes with museum educators and Extreme Kids & Crew staff. On the platform, they'll check out 20 vintage subway cars, meet a costumed traveler from the past and hear about the Great Blizzard of 1888. A quiet, chill room is at the ready for those who need a relaxing break. Register online at bit.ly/SD4SK. To arrange wheelchair access, call 718-694-1823. New York Transit Museum, Boerum Pl at Schermerhorn St, Downtown Brooklyn (718-694-1600, nta.info/museum). 10am-noon; free for special-needs families. All ages.

THROUGH MAR 28 KID MD

This 90-minute mini-med-school workshop gives aspiring young physicians the unique (and awesomely gross) chance to explore bodily functions via real human bodies in the "Body Worlds: Pulse" exhibit. Sporting lab coats and stethoscopes, kids are led through interactive activities covering the basics of anatomy and preventive medicine. After getting schooled on the sensory systems, brain, heart, lungs and bones by a real neuroscientist, they'll claim their degree at a graduation ceremony. Discovery Times Square, 226 W 44th St between Seventh and Eighth Aves (866-967-9692, discoverytsx.com). 10am-noon; $27, children $20. Ages 8 and up.
